Emily Blunt switches up her relaxed daytime look for the glitz and glam of the Met Gala

Maternity styling can be a challenge. Particularly when the 'blooming' and 'glow' vision you had of yourself pre-bump doesn't exactly live up to expectation. Do you cover up in breezy boho blouses à la Emily Blunt, or show your bump with pride in a form-fitting dress?

It's not easy to dress a shape you've never experienced before – not to mention one that is changing on a daily basis. The key is to not give up on your personal style. Avoid the temptation to dress completely in black (unless that's your thing, of course). If you usually wear rainbow hues, don them with pride! And while you might not be able to fit into your trademark skinny jeans, the one thing that can't be taken from you are your accessories – your favourite necklace, scarf or bag will all help you feel like yourself, not to mention give you another excuse to go shopping. As if we needed one...
